ABSTRACT: In this article, the issues of forming legal consciousness and legal culture in society, legal literacy of the young generation and their further development are put forward.

KEYWORDS: Legal consciousness, legal culture, legal literacy, legal literacy of young people, obedience to laws, etc.

INTRODUCTION

There are a number of important indices and factors that determine the level of development of the state and society in the world. We would like to briefly mention three aspects of them:

Firstly, the socio-political activity of the population in the interests of the state and people should be highly active in a developed society;

Secondly, it is necessary to have a high level of legal knowledge, consciousness, legal culture and literacy;

Thirdly, it is required that members of the society have a sense of belonging to the reforms.

To be clear, legal consciousness, culture, and legal literacy mean that we all have only knowledge of laws, obedience to them, or awareness of them. In fact, it is a very broad concept when approached philosophically.

THE MAIN RESULTS AND FINDINGS

A person with a high legal culture takes the initiative and respects law-making and its creation. Naturally, such people do not disobey the laws, do not commit actions contrary to established laws, on the contrary, they encourage others to do the same. Regardless of the field of work, the most important thing is to make a practical contribution to the development and prosperity of the country.

Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated January 9, 2019 "On fundamental improvement of the system of raising legal awareness and legal culture in society" is of great practical importance in raising the level of legal consciousness, culture and literacy of our renewing society to a new level.

In this decree, a number of problems were mentioned, which are important for the development of legal consciousness and legal culture in our population, and for increasing the level of legal literacy of citizens.

In the reforms being carried out under the leadership of the President, in his speeches and speeches, they strongly emphasize that the development of the state and society should become a national task for everyone, for this, every citizen of Uzbekistan should show his firm civil position, and no one's personal interest should prevail over the interest of the society. In particular, in the words of President Sh. Mirziyoyev: "in order to stand firm in the world arena and in one's determination, to achieve the goal, it is necessary to constantly strive for progress, to reform the way of life and thinking, to move slowly towards renewal [2].

Where personal interest is placed above the interest of society and the state, there will be decline and decay. Corruption, greed and similar vices will increase. It is important to strike a balance between these two interests. Therefore, it is appropriate to promote to our general society, especially to the minds of young people, that this balance should be maintained at all costs.

Unfortunately, today there is a lack of coherence and connection in all stages of the educational system. In particular, it is difficult to say a bold "yes" to the question of whether there are enough books, textbooks, visual aids on "legal literacy" in educational institutions. In such cases, the same legal culture in the minds of young people at the age of adulthood a problematic question arises that should be absorbed.

In this case, it is appropriate to develop innovative educational literature on permanent legal lessons in cooperation with philosophers, pedagogues and lawyers.

CONCLUSION

Also, there is a wonderful saying among our wise people, "A bird does what it sees in its nest". From this proverb, it can be understood that if the parents are educated, intelligent and devoted to the country, then the child will develop such a culture, without a doubt. Therefore, if children are given basic knowledge of legal education and moral rules in every family, they will be polished with the methodical recommendations of teachers in general education institutions and will become a solid and powerful science. In addition, instead of watching serials, movies or inappropriate social videos that promote various Western cultures, parents should watch shows that promote children's literacy, knowledge of daily etiquette, patriotism, and the teaching of the national values of the Uzbek people. .
